

One Health Liaison Job Announcement

Field Projects International is currently offering a short-term consultancy for an in-country One Health Liaison with prior work experience in Peru, especially in one or more of the following departments: Madre de Dios, Ucayali, Loreto, Puno. This position will assist FPI leadership in expanding the In Situ Laboratory initiative in-country, providing presentations on the initiative and meeting with various stakeholders that may become partners of the initiative. Consideration will be given to those that have work experience in the areas of wildlife trafficking or human-wildlife conflicts in general. Field experience, assisting or leading wildlife scientific research projects is also a plus.

The ideal person for this position will have time to devote to this work over the next 3 to 6 months and possess skill sets relevant to the following areas:

- Tropical rainforest field research
- Wildlife health and disease research
- Biological sample collection
- The One Health Initiative
- English-Spanish translation and interpretation

As this is a position that will work remotely, we especially value strong skills in the following areas:

- Written and oral communication
- Time management
- Organization
- Note taking

Field Projects International (FPI) is a 501c(3) nonprofit corporation based in California dedicated to the study and conservation of tropical ecosystems through hands-on training in field research and innovation in conservation technology. FPI's primary research efforts are concentrated in the Neotropics, with scientific and conservation training workshops that take place at multiple international field sites including North America, Central America, South America, and Southeast Asia. FPI is the coordinator of the In Situ Laboratory initiative that aims to empower local scientists and community leaders in habitat countries with modern wildlife population monitoring and pathogen surveillance tools.

Qualified applicants should send a resume/CV (required), cover letter (optional), to info\(at\)fieldprojects.org. Address your email to "FPI Recruitment Committee", and please include the position title in the subject of the email.

All applications are due by October 11

Field Projects International is an equal opportunity employer. Applicants will not be discriminated against because of race, color, creed, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, religion, national origin, citizenship status, disability, ancestry, marital status, veteran status, medical condition or any protected category prohibited by local, state or federal laws